Campbell River, or Wiwekám, is a scenic city in British Columbia on the east coast of Vancouver Island at the south end of Discovery Passage, which lies along the 50th parallel north along the important Inside Passage shipping route. Steeped in history, First Nations on the coast have known of the excellent salmon runs on the Campbell River for centuries. This area has been famous for its fishing, and people have come from far and wide to enjoy it (and hunting) here. Campbell River is renowned worldwide for spectacular snow-capped mountains, immense fjords and incredible out- door activity opportunities on land, water, and air.

Campbell River has its own airport which is less than 10km away and services Vancouver and other short distance internal flights. Sea Planes also service Campbell River to island locations (including Nanaimo and Victoria) as well as Vancouver. There is also a ferry service to neighbouring inhabited scenic Discovery Islands.

A city for people of all ages and interests, Campbell River is small in size yet large in character with something for everyone, including parks, recreation, and culture.

Both postings could be considered at less hours should this work for the right candidate.
