

Tall Tree Health Speech & Language Pathologist - Job Description

Tall Tree Health is seeking a Speech & Language Pathologist on a full-time contractor basis to join our growing team at our James Bay clinic, located behind the Parliament Building on Superior Street. There is an additional contract available to work at the Wsanec School Board (Tribal School) 2 days/week.

Why Work with Tall Tree Health:

Join our team at Tall Tree Health and experience a dynamic, engaging work environment that's as fun as it is beautiful. We're committed to your professional growth with ongoing support for continuing education and exclusive access to the Tall Tree Summit. As a member of our team, you'll benefit from curated clinician and client resources tailored to enhance your practice. Take the next step in your career with us and thrive in an environment that fosters excellence and innovation!

About the Position:

As a Speech & Language Pathologist, you are a vital part of the Tall Tree Team. You are responsible for providing assessment and treatment services to clients with a variety of presenting concerns, including physical health conditions, persistent pain, and chronic medical conditions. Clinical services will be available by telehealth, in-person from the clinic, and in the community. While the caseload is primarily pediatrics, we are looking for a clinician who is confident treating clients of all ages. Workload will be 3 shifts/week in the clinic, and 2 shifts/week at the school.

We are currently seeking Speech & Language Pathologists with a focus on pediatrics.

What You'll Be Doing:

- Evaluating and assessing patients' communication skills and developing individualized treatment plans that support a wide variety of patients and conditions including phonological disorders, aphasia, fluency disorders, apraxia of speech, articulation disorders, language facilitation, cognitive-communication, voice disorders, acquired dyslexia, and more.
- Providing education to individuals and their families about supportive communication strategies and acquired communication disorders.
- Providing exceptional care that is evidence-based, psychologically informed, and patient-centered.

Tall Tree Health
Speech & Language Pathologist - Job Description

- Maintaining related reports, records, and statistical data in accordance with established standards and procedures.
- Collaborating interdisciplinarily with Occupational Therapists, Kinesiologists, Massage Therapists, Psychologists, Clinical Counselors, and more when indicated.
- Staying current with the latest evidence, findings, trends, and developments to ensure clients receive the best possible care.

What We Need From You:

- Current registration with the College of Speech and Hearing Health Professionals of British Columbia.
- Master's Degree in Speech Language Pathology, or equivalent from a recognized University.
- Valid B.C. Driver's Licence and access to a reliable vehicle for community visits.
- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills.
- Training, education, and experience in Pediatric Speech Pathology, with a focus on language disorders, articulation, and fluency with at least 2 years of clinical experience
- Interest and passion for working within a team, collaborating and engaging with a diverse range of professionals, and contributing to an exceptional work environment are a must.

Reports to: Clinic Director